Gateway Energy raises $5,700 for Leukemia & Lymphoma Society

MONTEBELLO, N.Y. – Gateway Energy Services Corporation exceeded its fund-raising goal by 21 percent, raising $5,776.36 for the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society to fight cancer.

Gateway was also a Silver Sponsor of the LLS's Light the Night campaign and walk, held Sunday, October 24, at Nyack Memorial Park.

"Our partnership with the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society is very important to us," said Steve Maslak, President and CEO of Gateway Energy Services. "For seven years, we have worked with the LLS to help raise money for a cure and have fielded a team to take part in the Light the Night walk."

Team Gateway surpassed its goal with company-sponsored events, from a bake sale and pancake breakfasts to Jeans Fridays and Wii Bowling tournament. Individual employees also raised their own money to add to the team's effort.

Gateway Energy's philanthropy extends to the American Heart Association, which has bestowed Fit-Friendly Company Gold Status. Gateway has raised thousands of dollars since 2008 for the AHA. Gateway supports the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society, raising thousands of dollars since 2004 and attending its signature Light The Night event near its corporate headquarters. This spring, Gateway added the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, raising thousands for and attending the Central Pennsylvania Chapter's walk in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in support of an employee who was diagnosed with MS earlier this year. Gateway has a satellite office in nearby Forty Fort, Pa. The company has also made donations to the AmeriCares' Haiti Emergency Relief Fund, and provided in-kind services and supported volunteerism among its employees, who have devoted time and expertise to many local organizations.

In all, Gateway has raised more than $22,000 this year for charitable organizations.
