Gateway Energy top corporate fund raiser for Leukemia & Lymphoma Society

MONTEBELLO, N.Y. – Gateway Energy Services Corporation, an energy marketer based in Rockland County, was the region’s 2010 top corporate fund raiser for the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society.

Gateway donated more than $10,000 to the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society Westchester/Hudson Valley Chapter. Team Gateway exceeded its fund-raising goal by 21 percent, raising $5,776 through company-sponsored events, from a bake sale and pancake breakfasts to Jeans Fridays and Wii Bowling tournament. Individual employees also raised their own money to add to the team’s effort. Gateway was a silver sponsor of the LLS’ Light the Night campaign and walk, which the company has sponsored since 2004.

“We have a long-standing relationship with the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society,” said Steve Maslak, President and CEO of Gateway Energy Services. “Gateway takes its corporate citizenship seriously and I am so proud that Gateway’s employees, year after year, continue to put us at the top of the region’s fund-raising efforts.”

Gateway raised more than $22,000 in 2010 for charitable organizations.

Gateway Energy’s philanthropy extends to other non-profits. The American Heart Association bestowed Fit-Friendly Platinum Status on the company. Gateway has raised thousands of dollars since 2008 for the AHA. In spring 2010, Gateway earned Rookie of the Year accolades from the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, raising thousands for the Central Pennsylvania Chapter’s Walk MS in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in support of an employee who was diagnosed with MS earlier in the year. Gateway has a satellite office in nearby Forty Fort, Pa.
