Gateway Energy Announces Statewide Expansion and Savings for NJ Residents and Businesses

MONTEBELLO, NY – Residents and businesses throughout New Jersey now have the opportunity to manage their electricity and natural gas costs by selecting Gateway Energy Services as their alternative supplier through the New Jersey Energy Choice Program.

Gateway Energy is the only independent retail energy supplier offering both residents and businesses, statewide, an option to purchase natural gas and electricity supply from a source other than their utility, according to the New Jersey Board of Public Utilities' Web site.

Leveraging the benefits of competition through energy deregulation, Gateway is offering its N.J. residential customers savings of about 10% on their electricity supply for the remainder of 2010, compared to the rates, effective or proposed, of the New Jersey electric utilities (Rockland Electric, PSE&G, JCP&L and Atlantic City Electric.) Savings during the summer months will be even higher since all four utilities' rates increase in the summer, June 1 through September 30.

According to the U.S. Energy Information Administration, New Jersey residents spend more than $4.5 billion on electricity and $3.3 billion on natural gas every year.

"Imagine the savings to each New Jerseyan if they switched to Gateway, " said Bill Cateno, Sr. Vice President of Marketing & Sales. "And it's simple to switch. When you select Gateway, your utility company continues to deliver your energy, read your meter and service any problems. They'll also continue to send you a single bill that includes your charges for their energy delivery and Gateway's supply."

"I shop for value on everything else," said Charlotte Petroski of Edison, PSE&G electric customer and mother of two young children. "Now that I've got a choice, why wouldn't I shop for value on these essential services?"

Customers can enroll by telephone at (877) 326-6803 or through the company's Web site, www.gesc.com/nj. There are no sign-up fees involved.
